

East Riding Town and Parish

Council 'E Bulletin'

Welcome to the second East Riding Town & Parish Council E Bulletin from the Office of the Police & Crime Commissioner. I hope you have all recovered from the excitement of the elections and are now settling down to represent your communities. For those who don't know, I am Debbie Fagan and I am the Police & Crime Commissioner's representative in the East Riding. Keith Hunter, the Police & Crime Commissioner for Humberside was elected in May 2016 and whilst his role and responsibilities are very broad, one of his duties is to ensure the Police are delivering an effective and efficient service within the funding they have.

I work with communities and partner organisations to help co-ordinate safer communities and represent the public in police meetings. I am very aware that there is not a consistent route of communication to all the 168 towns and villages in the East Riding which is why I have started sending these E Bulletins to you as Councillors being the first consistent and structured level of community representation.

Meet The Commissioner

I will be planning another programme of 'Meet The Commissioner' meetings over the summer and autumn. These will provide opportunities for Town & Parish Councillors to come along and meet the Commissioner Keith Hunter, hear about his work and ask questions. They will be in locations across the East Riding and you will be able to attend any location. This approach is aimed to cover a number of Parishes with one meeting given there are 155 parishes in the East Riding as it is not possible for him or I to attend every one. I will send out the details separately as soon as they are arranged.

For this edition I have included information from other organisations I work with which they are keen to share with you so the bulletin is quite varied. I would be interested in your feedback by email on receiving this type of information and also whether you wish to continue receiving future editions.

A message from the Police and Crime Commissioner

You may have seen in the news recently that Humberside Police was awarded an overall grading of 'GOOD' by Her Majesty's Inspectorate (HMICFRS) as well as achieving a GOOD grading across every pillar of their annual inspection process. If you don't follow the world of policing you'd be forgiven for saying 'so what?' but as your public representative on policing matters I can assure you this is a serious step in the right direction.

The inspection report is a comprehensive assessment of how the force is performing across a wide range of areas, including how they:

- Protect vulnerable people
- Investigate crime
- Prevent crime and tackle anti-social behaviour
- Tackle serious and organised crime

It illustrates the huge amount of effort the staff and officers have put into transforming the performance of the force over the last couple of years. This really is a landmark accomplishment, never before in the history of the force has Humberside Police received a grading of 'good' in every area and sub-area in which they have been inspected. This should be welcomed by all our communities as a signal that your voice has been heard and that your taxes are being well-used to provide an improving service properly focussed on meeting local concerns as well as national threats.

It is worth reflecting where Humberside Police was three years ago when I was elected. Community policing decimated, a failing 101 system, the lowest staff morale in the country and communities feeling abandoned by a shrinking force failing to utilise its resources efficiently or effectively. A lot of tough decisions were needed and have been taken.

We now have a completely new leadership team in the force and over 400 more officers. We have bucked the national trend by getting officers back into unused police stations and not one existing operational base has closed since 2016 without being replaced. Our 101 service is now recognised as one of the best, if not the best, in the country, neighbourhood policing is now back as the core of policing delivery and morale is improving hugely.

As your Police and Crime Commissioner I'm proud of the journey the force has undertaken to improve its performance so substantially but I will never be satisfied it is as good as it can be. My ambition for this area remains high, and on behalf of the communities here that deserve the best, I will work with the Chief Constable to ensure the improvements made are sustainable and that we move forward together towards excellence.

Keith Hunter

Humberside Fire and Rescue Service

Safety in the home advice

Below are ways you can make your home safer:

- Fit smoke alarms and test them regularly
 - Never leave cooking unattended
 - Plan and practice your escape route
- Switch off appliances before going to bed – including your cooker
- Ensure all candles, heaters and open fires are extinguished or turned off before going to bed
 - Close all internal doors to prevent a fire from spreading
- Share your safety plans with family and friends and look out for the elderly
 - In the event of a fire, get out, stay out and dial 999.

We have Public Safety teams across the area who are trained to deliver fire safety advice to all households. However, when we receive referrals from partner agencies regarding individuals or households who have shown that they are at greater risk of fire in the home, we will arrange a Safe and Well visit to identify any measures needed to make their home a safer place.

Residents can also call 0300 303 8242 to see whether they qualify for a Safe and Well visit or receive one of our information leaflets.

If in doubt, call us, we are here to make the Humberside a safe place to live and work.

Humber Teaching NHS Foundation Trust

Hello, my name is Lindsay Samson and I work for Humber Teaching NHS Foundation Trust. I am a safeguarding development officer for organisations within the voluntary and community sector (VCS) for East Riding.

Here at the Trust we understand the thought of safeguarding responsibilities can be a daunting prospect, and I can assure you that I am here to support voluntary and community organisations at every stage. This service provided by the NHS, in conjunction with HEY Smile Foundation; aims to guide the VCS through the appropriate levels of training, information and support for their organisation.

My role is in training and development, where I can provide training for VCS staff and advice on safeguarding policies & procedures. I am not here for reported concerns as this must go through the relevant safeguarding teams, however, I can provide advice in the first instance if you are unsure of what to do if they suspect a safeguarding situation is happening.

Over the coming months, I am organising and hosting development sessions for the voluntary & community sector (VCS). These will be in four different locations throughout East Riding at VCS locations to promote community inclusion and economy. At these events, there will be representatives from HEY Smile Foundation, Nat West community banking services, Humberside Police and Humberside Fire & Rescue service. The guest speakers will deliver a brief overview of their service and there will be networking opportunities for the delegates at the end of each session to arrange further communications. I shall be delivering a basic level 1 safeguarding Adults & Children awareness presentation at the start of each session and the delegates shall be given the opportunity for further training dates and workbooks for their organisation volunteers to complete. Delegates shall receive a Certificate of Attendance at the end of the event.

The event aims to develop the safeguarding awareness of front line voluntary staff in groups, which may be in people's homes or identify from conversations of potential safety referrals. This will follow the format of 2 x half day sessions per day on the four dates below. This will hopefully capture most of our target user groups and establish a foundation to build on. The dates and times are as follows:
